Destination Anywhere

“If you don’t know where you’re going,
any road will take you there”

Have you ever heard somebody say something like, “little did I expect I’d be here 15 years later” or something like “I never thought I’d still be doing this 25 years on”?

The sense from their words that they somehow expected things to be different, that life would have dealt them a different outcome. Emotions often ranging from simple disappointment to deepest regret.

So if they didn’t think they’d be here, where did they expect to be?

The most likely answer is that they didn’t have a definite destination, but just not where they ended up!!

With no clear vision for your life, you will reach your destination, any destination, by chance not choice.

The question is, is that a gamble you’re willing to take? Are you even cognisant that by not giving any real depth of thought and decision about what you want from life, that you are leaving it up to chance?

What other important things do you leave up to chance?

Is it that you don’t believe that you can create outcomes in your life? Are you just destined to see what life delivers? Do you really believe that?

Maybe it’s that you just haven’t got around to it yet, but someday You’re gonna make stuff happen!!

It’s funny how easily not now becomes never. Isn’t it John? or Sarah? or Rachel? or you maybe?

What percentage of the world's great achievers adopt this by chance not choice strategy do you think?

By achievement, by success, I mean, someone decides what they want and makes it happen.... in any aspect of life. I'm not talking gold, Gucci or fast cars!!

It's about understanding what's important to you, its understanding what kind of life you want to live, its understanding what kind of mark you want to make and then deciding!!!

Deciding this is what I want and this is what I'm going to DO about it.

DREAM first, then DECIDE, then DO.

That's pretty much the formula for success.

Dream, imagine, visualise the life you want to have, the outcomes you want to achieve.

You can't do everything, you must focus, you must decide..... this is what I want. That clarity is power.

It eliminates procrastination and wasting time. You decide what success is for you.

Now DO. DO, do, do, do, and do. Action is the name of the game. Guess what, it probably won't work out first time, or the second, or even the third. So go Do, do again, do differently, feck it up, do more you've got to keep doing till it's done. That's why it's got to be something you've thought about and really want.

If you know what you want but don't quite know how to get there, then find somebody that's done it already. There's very, very little that hasn't already been done by somebody before - what worked for them?

To achieve the success, the life you want.... You've got to imagine, decide, get really clear and be relentless in your actions to reach your goal.

So it's time to make your first decision.....

YOUR LIFE by CHANCE? or YOUR LIFE by CHOICE?

You Decide.
